Palm trees, coconuts and surfboards, it's not a Caribbean beach but a slope to be faced ski on the feet at 3000 meters altitude. It's the new foolishness of Carosello 3000, which for the 2019 winter season launches "The Beach - Funslope", a special course that unites the fun on the snow with the vibrant atmosphere of the tropics.

A path where families and children of every level will live a special snowy adventure "surfing" between woops, banked turns and tunnels. But is the design that makes this ride really unique: give high five to Palm tree leaves, live the colors of a tropical sunset and enter into the jaw of a dreaded white shark.

"The Beach - Funslope" is born from the collaboration between Carosello 3000 and Young Mountain, Austrian company specialized in identifying the new requirements of the winter tourism and now present in more than 50 resorts. 36.000 cubic meters of snow, 600 hours work forecasted for the realization and a total length of 1.6km, are the numbers that will make The Beach the longest Funslope in the world.

This particular path adds to "The Beach - Snowpark", completing the Carosello 3000 offering for the fun of beginners and families.
